

BOOKSHELF

POEMS

by István Baka

Translated by Peter Zollman

ISTVÁN BAKA (1948-1995) poet, translator and editor. Szeged the most important city in South Hungary considers him as their own poet.* He is well known for his achievements in renewing modern poetical imagery and rôle playing poetry. He often identified himself with well known figures of European mythology and also assumed newly created personalities. During his tragically short life he received, among many others, the Robert Graves.